

You don't have to take our word for it...

"They make sure it runs. They provide great support and quality and they're cost competitive. They're very thorough. I've learned a lot about the engineering in my own business from them. They are almost a sole source for me"

Dana Nelson, Nelson & Sons Silver Cup Fish Food

"I have great confidence in their honesty and integrity. They are completely reliable."

Craig Smith, Honeyville Grain

"The number one reason we use them is their understanding of process flow engineering. BIFA has been with them longer than I know – generations."

Dan Phister, IFA - Intermountain Farmers Association

"Expertise, turnaround time, pricing, quick to respond. I can rely on them."

Kevin Martindale, CEntry Constructors & Engineers

"One of our preferred resources. They are on time, communicate well, work safely and they're fun to work with."

Roy Walker, Huish Detergents

"Very knowledgeable. Years of experience. A long time fixture in our industry"

Bill Dutton, Deseret Mills

Four Generations of Reliable Solutions

Four Generations of Reliable Solutions

Since the beginning in 1912, Halverson Company has become the single source for design build construction of grain handling, storage facilities and processing expertise.

Halverson Company provides solutions for bulk weighing and conveying systems that fit any application.

We plan, design, build and provide innovative equipment solutions and service for the finest feed, grain, food and bulk handling facilities. We have built customer relationships that last. Halverson has worked for many of the same owners, year after year - an indication of high customer satisfaction.

Customers include Cargill, The Scoular Company, FMC, Honeyville Grain, IFA - Intermountain Farmers Association, Deseret Mills.

The Halverson Solution System

Our emphasis on problem-solving is the foundation for everything we do. Our method is simple. We begin by identifying and understanding the specific problems and needs of each client. Then we design and construct efficient processing systems that address those specific problems and challenges.

For a minor renovation, a major expansion, or a complete new turn-key facility, you can count on Halverson for the design that works best for you. For projects large and small, general services/ repair, and consulting engineering, we can have your facility back into full production with minimal downtime. You can rely on us to bring your project in safely, on time, and on budget.
